The Cover Photo

The Johnson House is an excellent example of early Germantown architecture. It was built between 1765 and 1768 by John Johnson, Sr., as a wedding present for his son. John Johnson, Jr., a tanner by trade, lived here in peace with his wife and family. The peace of the Johnson family and that of their Quaker/Mennonite neighbors was rudely disturbed on October 4, 1777, when George Washington marched on Philadelphia to attack the British. Heavy fighting quickly engulfed the Germantown community, leaving battle scars still visible today. In later years the Johnson House became an important "station" on the Underground Railroad, helping fugitive slaves toward freedom.

In 1980 the historic home was donated to the Mennonite Church, and is now open to the public, as are the Mennonite Church (1770), the Wyck House (ca. 1690), and the Rittenhouse Homestead (1707-13).

Foreword

We are pleased to present to you the 1983 Mennonite Yearbook, the organizational and statistical record of the Mennonite Church in North America. This volume reflects the life of the church as it is found in its congregational, district, conference, regional, continental, and worldwide expressions.

The year, 1983, is a special one in the life of the Mennonite family in North America. Three hundred years ago our forebearers from Europe planted the Mennonite Church on the North American continent at Germantown, Pennsylvania. In their article "Scattered and Gathered," Leonard Gross and Robert F. Ulle help us reflect on that significant occasion and consider what has transpired among us in the three centuries since. Ross T. Bender, moderator of the Mennonite Church General Assembly, in "The Mennonite Church—1983," places this year in the life of the church in the context of its three-century past. He makes note of key issues and challenges before us as we enter into the fourth century of life and faith. Bender invites the whole family to meet in Bethlehem, August 1-7, to affirm our commonness with Jesus Christ who is the chief cornerstone of faith for us today, as in every year since the gospel was first proclaimed.

The basic features of the Yearbook continue as they have from year to year. As with each issue, we seek to reflect the life of the church in a way that is helpful to all our readers. As you page through this volume you will note a few features and changes as follows: 1) The Regional and Ministerial Directories remain the same except for the updating of data. 2) In the Conference Directory Mennonite Christian Brotherhood has been merged with the Fellowship Churches listing and moved to the section "Other Mennonite Conferences." This was done in response to the request of their leadership. You will also note the first-time listing of the "Washington DC Metropolitan Area Mennonite Fellowship," a new district in this urban area of Region V.

The General Information and Statistical section now provides a fuller breakdown of membership, congregations into country and region (membership in countries and region should each equal the total of membership on line one), and reflects other significant congregational relationships. We hope that this will be beneficial to you. 3) Among the overseas churches there is a new entry, Venezuela Mennonite Church. 4) In the organizational directory listings of health and welfare institutions have been recast in order to show a more appropriate reflection of the purpose and functions of these organizations. There is one new category, Developmental Disabilities Services. 5) Under Inter-Mennonite Projects, Mennonite Economic Development Associates (MEDA) has been listed in more detail. This should provide a better handle to understand the nature and range of the work of this emerging organization in the life of the church. 6) In the Statistical section there is a new table reflecting the results of the U.S. decennial censuses conducted in the United States in 1971 and 1980. This region-by-region and state-by-state report is based on a county-by-county study. While our number barely registers on the statistical chart, we are grateful for the opportunity of witness and service that continues to be ours today.

This volume reflects a total North American membership of 112,124, a slight increase of 1,804 over 1982 (this number is low partially due to more precise reporting of memberships involved in congregations of dual/multiple affiliated relationships and all congregations and conferences seem to be following more rigid standards in calculating their membership.); total congregations increased from 1,269 to 1,301. Counting the overseas churches, the Mennonite Church now includes 142,039 members throughout the world (see Tables II and III). In the Inter-Mennonite context the Mennonite Church is a significant part of the 319,500 members (see Table VI) who comprise the Mennonite and Brethren in Christ in North America and the 689,500 members (see Tables VII and VIII) who comprise the Mennonite and Brethren in Christ bodies around the world.

While annual net membership gains in the Mennonite Church are small, the number of persons who have been received into the church this past year is significant (6,073). God's Spirit is at work among us; let us rejoice!

The Mennonite Yearbook is a tool to facilitate the life of the Mennonite Church. The production of this volume is the result of the close cooperative efforts of the staff of the Mennonite Yearbook and the many pastors, conference secretaries, and representatives of numerous activities, projects, congregations, boards, and agencies who gather up-to-date information and organize it in a way that benefits the whole body. To each one who assisted in

The Mennonite Church 1983

By Ross T. Bender
Moderator, Mennonite Church General Assembly

The year 1983 marks the 300th anniversary of the founding of the first permanent Mennonite settlement in the New World at Germantown, Pennsylvania. No doubt there were Dutch Mennonites who came to New Amsterdam (now New York) earlier for business and trade but it has been difficult to document whether or not they established a congregation. None of the Mennonite churches in New York City today is a direct descendant of a Dutch Mennonite congregation if such ever existed.

Assembly 83: Christ the Cornerstone

Assembly 83, scheduled for August 1-7 at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, on the campus of Lehigh University, will be something like a birthday party. It will be a conjoint event celebrated with the General Conference Mennonite Church. The Germantown congregation holds dual membership in the Eastern District of the General Conference Mennonite Church and the Franconia Conference of the Mennonite Church. These two conferences, which grew out of common cultural, ethnic, and spiritual soil, are hosting the conjoint sessions of the biennial Mennonite Church General Assembly and the triennial sessions of the General Conference Mennonite Church. The theme of this historic event is "Christ the Cornerstone."

Mennonite Church General Assembly

Mennonite Church General Assembly consists of delegates from 22 district conferences, each of whom holds membership on the Mennonite Church General Board. These represent nearly 1,000 congregations with some 96,000 members. About 10 percent of the membership resides in Canada. If we add to this number those members in congregations and conferences which have not affiliated with the Mennonite Church General Assembly, there is a total number of (Old) Mennonites of 109,000 in over 1,200 congregations. The heaviest concentration of Mennonites in the United States is east of the Mississippi River.

When the churchwide organization was restructured in 1971, the church was divided into five regions. No mention was made in the bylaws of the existence of district conferences. Provision for delegates to the General Assembly and for membership on the General Board, as well as the program boards, was made through the regions. The decade of the 70s, however, saw a resurgence of vitality in the district conferences and a corresponding growth in their programs, budget, and staff. This led to a renewed recognition of the significance of their role in the total denomination. The updating of the churchwide structures, which is presently being carried out by a committee for review by the delegates at Assembly 83, is calling for a central role for the conferences and a diminishing role for the regions. Nonetheless, provisions will be made for such regional ties as are useful to the conferences in those areas. The Canadian churches (Region I) and the churches along the Eastern Seaboard (Region V) have been among those who have found the regional organization most helpful in finding fellowship and in carrying out their distinctive mission.

Inter-Mennonite Fellowship

In recent years, we have found fellowship beyond our immediate denominational boundaries significant and enriching. There are 46 congregations who have sought dual affiliation with both the Mennonite Church and the General Conference Mennonite Church. There are a few instances where this extends to the Brethren in Christ and the Church of the Brethren. Several district conferences have held conjoint sessions with their General Conference counterparts in Oregon, Arizona and California, Kansas and Illinios. In Ontario the number of shared projects in education and mission have led to setting up an inter-Mennonite conference executive committee to give direction to these programs.

An October 1982 consultation on inter-Mennonite programs sponsored by the Council of Moderators and Secretaries noted that there are almost 100 such programs and agencies. These range in size from very modest efforts to such large programs as Mennonite Central Committee. The consultation affirmed this growing cooperation but identified the need for studying the Scriptures together. This is to insure that our common work will grow out of a shared biblical understanding, an overarching vision and a sense of purpose to give direction to our labors together. The council (representing the Mennonite Church, General Conference Mennonite Church, Mennonite Brethren, and Brethren in Christ bodies) was encouraged to enlarge its role and increase its efforts to bring about this shared vision as their most effective instrument of coordination.

Confession of Faith

At Assembly 81 at Bowling Green, Ohio, a number of conferences expressed the need for a revision of the 1963 Confession of Faith. The matter was referred to the Council of Faith, Life, and Strategy, which sought counsel from each of the district conferences. Their survey revealed a wide range of opinion in the church not so much in the area of doctrine as in the area of practice. A review of the 1963 Confession revealed that the statement is very culture-specific. It was noted that there has been a marked change in the practical application of our faith in the last two decades. Examples are the veiling, the holy kiss, the plain coat, and the changing roles of women and men, notably in the participation of women in leadership ministries. While the time span between the Garden City statement of 1921 and the Kalona statement of 1963 was four decades, it may well be that the two decades from 1963 to 1983 represent the equivalent amount of time in terms of the rapidity of cultural change. The General Assembly will be asked to reflect on how the church can make a statement of faith for its time that is not so culture-specific as to be out-of-date in a few years nor so general and timeless as to be irrelevant, perhaps even unfaithful.

Changing Patterns of Leadership

Another issue of our time is the changing pattern of leadership in the congregation. The threefold pattern of bishop, minister, and deacon has given way, in many parts of the church, to a diversity of patterns. These range from single pastoral leadership to plural or shared leadership. In some cases of shared leadership several members serve on a team of leaders and in other cases several elected elders share with the pastor(s) in giving spiritual direction to the congregation. In some instances these patterns are combined. Several conferences now make provision for women to be called to pastoral leadership and to be licensed and/or ordained for this ministry. The pattern of conference ministers (pastor to pastors) is fairly widespread throughout the church, especially where there are no longer any bishops. At the same time, there is a growing recognition that an overseer arrangement closer to the pastor and congregation than the conference minister can provide represents a helpful supplement to the pastoral ministry.

Multi-ethnic Identity

The growing number of predominantly black and Hispanic congregations among us has led to an increasing consciousness of our multi-ethnic identity as a Mennonite Church. Growth frequently brings growing pains. We have sensed the need for new organizational structures to provide for greater visibility for blacks and Hispanics in the denomination. The Black Caucus Assembly adopted a new set of bylaws for its new organization and a new name, Afro/American Mennonite Association. The Hispanic Assembly and Concilio are continuing to study the proposal for a new organization. In the meantime provision is being made in the Mennonite Church bylaws for these two associations and for their representation on the General Board.

Current Issues

Two current issues before the church are 1) human sexuality in the Christian life and 2) justice and the Christian witness. These issues have to do with being faithful disciples in both the most intimate and the most public spheres of living. Secularism is making inroads on the way that even Mennonite Christians think and act. The historic doctrine of nonconformity is as relevant today as it ever was, although the frontiers keep shifting. We must avoid the temptations to individualism, to hedonism, and to selfishness in all its forms. It is to renewed faithfulness that these studies are calling us.

Conclusion

I have been musing lately on the kind of reaction which the first Mennonite immigrants would have if they were able to return for Assembly 83. Their initial reaction might have to do with how widely dispersed we are across the continent. Second, they may be surprised at our size, although the more discerning might ask why so many of their descendants have left the church over the centuries. Others might wonder why we have not been more evangelistic. Certainly all would be surprised that some of us have black skins and others speak Spanish. No doubt they would be startled that so few of us speak German. I am confident they would be deeply distressed at our many splits and divisions. Some would be deeply concerned that we find ourselves so fully at home in our North American society. Certainly they would be gratified that we have found freedom to worship as we please and that the nonresistant faith is still vital among us. They would, without a doubt, feel at one with us spiritually as we gather round the theme "Christ the Cornerstone."

Scattered and Gathered

The Mennonite Church in North America, 1683-1983
by Leonard Gross and Robert F. Ulle

Mennonites have never been defined by national political boundaries. While world events—political, economic, and religious—have shaped and directed our geographic frontiers, we have also known that being "God's people" is not related to the country or parish in which we live. Christ said, "My kingdom is not of this world" (John 18:36); and "My brothers and sisters are those who do the will of the Father" (Mark 3:17). Hans Denck said, "No one can truly know Christ, except he follow him in life."

During our first years in Europe, we existed in many countries. From Switzerland we first spread to South Germany and Austria/Moravia; from the Netherlands, our frontiers spread all the way to Prussia—all within a few years of the birth of our believers' church movement.

The great century of Mennonite migrations, however, was two hundred years later, when political wars, economic famine, and religious intolerance precipitated mass Mennonite movement. To the west, we joined with Quakers, Lutherans, Reformed, and other refugees of wartorn Europe and, beginning in 1683, settled in William Penn's woods in North America. Here we met "lovingly" with Baptist and Lutheran, and prayed "that the Lord be with us in these foreign regions . . . to the upbuilding of the church and to the salvation of our souls."

After 1789, Mennonites also migrated eastward into Russia, founding settlements such as Chortitza and Molotschna, deep into the Ukraine. Political crisis in the 1870s led "Russian" Mennonites and Hutterites, 18,000 of them, to set out for Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, and Manitoba. In this way, two widely divergent movements of the 1700s, one westward and the other eastward, found an ultimate geographic meeting a century later in North America.

By this time the North American Mennonites, sons and daughters of the Franconia and Lancaster pioneers, were still continuing to expand their geographic boundaries. For economic, and perhaps religious, reasons Mennonites had migrated into Virginia, Ontario, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and were pushing even further west and south.

Little of the above migratory movement is uniquely Mennonite; many others did the same—indeed, all in North and South America who are not indigenous Americans are migrants! Less common, to be sure, was the fact that we did this, conscious of being a people who are defined by our faith and practice, not by national background. In what would become the Franconia Conference, for instance, Dutch and Swiss Mennonites related to each other as one people of faith.

The ethnic boundaries of our European backgrounds began to disappear after the United States Civil War, even as the geographic boundaries had disappeared earlier. Renewal swept the church in the form of Sunday schools, revival meetings, missions, and English services, as many Mennonites began establishing a "new rhythm" in church life. A heartfelt and deep concern to bring "all creatures" into obedience and salvation stimulated an expansion of the Mennonite body which continues today.

Mission to blacks began on Pennsylvania's Welsh Mountain in the 1890s. Immigrants from Eastern Europe joined in with a newly established Mennonite presence in crowded cities and industrial towns. Itinerant missionaries traveled the roads of the nation. Missionaries following the Great Commission traveled to India, Africa, and Asia, "making disciples of all nations."

In the twentieth century, Mennonite geographic frontiers and identity again changed because of the political upheavals of two world wars. The First World War gave us pause to reflect on how better to prepare for future breakdowns of international mutual respect and cooperation. Helping in the process of human reconciliation and aiding in avoiding conflict became part of the Mennonite practice. Postwar reconstruction (1918ff.) helped conceive the idea that gave birth to the Mennonite Central Committee in 1920. A new generation of Russian Mennonites again looked to the New World for freedom from war, persecution, and terror. During and after the Second World War we rubbed shoulders with the whole spectrum of Mennonite groups in Civilian Public Service (CPS), in MCC work in Europe from 1940 to about 1955/60, and then, worldwide. In this manner those groups who had not given up the German language and the "old ways" were also reunited with the "English" Mennonites, in a common vision and program of service for peace.

Migration has continued into Europe, the Canadian provinces, and Latin America as countries have opened doors to Russian refugees, and to other Mennonites driven by the search for a land in which to worship God in peace. Our knowledge of one another has grown, even as we have also come to know and welcome Hispanic, African, and Asian sisters and brothers.

We have found a broad Mennonite faith, of one piece, that extends far beyond our own discrete group. There is more than enough room for all Mennonites who rise to the call of Jesus Christ, the peace-bringing Master who has called us to his ways and who calls us to invite others to join in with us, God's gathered people.

A major task in our fourth century as North American Mennonites is to continue to make disciples of all nations. We shall also need to strengthen one another as Mennonites, even as we broaden and deepen our relations with the rest of God's people, no matter the formal denomination to which they belong. For it is a humbling truth to note that we are but a small part of the kingdom of Christ. It is with thanksgiving, however, that we can affirm that we are indeed part of God's kingdom. Let us sing and rejoice!

Leonard Gross is executive secretary of the Mennonite Historical Committee; Robert F. Ulle, a prime mover in the various Germantown projects, has been involved in the documentation of the early Mennonite beginnings in North America.

the significant work we are very grateful. In the Yearbook office we owe many thanks to Debbie Cameron and Penny Frey, who tend and care for these reports to insure that they reflect accurately the changes and new information as reported. For the first time this volume is now stored on a computer. Because of the use of this new technology the staff was required to follow some different procedures. Typesetters Cathy Depta and Michelle Quinn were most helpful in this transition. In the end this change will insure greater accuracy and make it possible to produce this volume with less tedious labor. In the long run we think it will be well worth the effort. Thanks for being so patient with us in this first go round.

The Yearbook is now in your hands. Use it fully. Let us know how it feels and works. We hope that it will indeed be a most useful tool for you as you participate in the common life, heritage, and faith of the Mennonite Church in North America and around the world.—James E. Horsch

Mennonite Church Regional Boundaries

Regional Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite Church congregations according to the region in which they are located. Within each region, congregations are listed alphabetically by state/ province and city. This directory includes all the Mennonite Church congregations which are listed in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Most of these congregations are members of district conferences; however, some ("Unaffiliated Mennonite Congregations") are not related to any district or conference. Most participate in the regional activities and send delegates to the General Assembly; however, some consider themselves part of the larger Mennonite church body, but choose not to participate in the programs of the region or the General Assembly. These factors are noted at the beginning of each regional listing.

In addition, the directory includes all congregations affiliated with the Brethren in Christ, General Conference Mennonite, Mennonite Brethren, Evangelical Mennonite Brethren, Evangelical Mennonite Church, Evangelical Mennonite Conference of Canada and the Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada churches. These are integrated with the Mennonite Congregations but set in italic type for ease of identification. Information listed about these congregations includes name, number, affiliation (BIC—Brethren in Christ; EMB—Evangelical Mennonite Brethren Conference; EMC—Evangelical Mennonite Church; EMCC—Evangelical Mennonite Conference of Canada; EMMC—Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada; GC—General Conference Mennonite; and MB—Mennonite Brethren), and location.

The geographical area, regional officers, committees, a summary of the Mennonite Church conference affiliation of congregations, membership, and a listing of delegates to Mennonite General Assembly are noted with each region. Information regarding district conference organizations, bishops/overseers, and congregations is found in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations" section of this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide information regarding the meetinghouse of the congregation. It is designed to assist readers in their efforts to find or contact the congregation at its meetinghouse. Note that the location of the meetinghouse is, in most cases, not a mailing address. All mail should be directed to the office or the contact person listed under the congregation in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregation." Persons desiring to get in touch with the pastor, or contact person of a congregation, should follow the information provided in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Effort was made to secure complete and accurate information about each congregation listed. If there are errors and/or if there is data missing, please provide full information to the Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, Mennonite Publishing House, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683. Conference and District Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite Church conferences alphabetically by name of conference or district. Within each conference, congregations are listed alphabetically by name of congregation. The Conservative Mennonite Conference lists congregations alphabetically by country and state. Within each state, congregations are listed alphabetically by name; a few others list by country and then alphabetically by name of congregation. Some of the conferences and districts identify with the Mennonite Church at large, but do not participate with regional planning groups nor send delegates to the General Assembly. Note that the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church, the Beachy Amish, and the Fellowship Churches are listed in separate directories later in this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information needed to contact one person (pastor or contact person) for a given congregation by mail or phone without needing to consult other sections of the Yearbook. This person is noted with a number 1 after the ministerial office code. Ordained persons who carry active responsibility in the congregations are also listed with each congregation. These carry a number 2. Ordained persons who carry district, conference, or churchwide responsibilities in addition to congregational duties are designated by the number 5.

Ordained persons who are retired (number 3); those who are without congregational responsibility (number 4); chaplains (6); those serving as active missionaries overseas (number 7); and those serving as staff members of a Mennonite Church-sponsored-or-related board, agency, or program (number 9) are listed in the "Ministerial Directory" only. Note one exception: In the listing of "Unaffiliated Mennonite Congregations," all ordained persons are included with each congregation regardless of their ministerial function.

The mailing address and telephone number of the church office is listed for those congregations whose office address or telephone number is different from that of the pastor or contact person. The address and telephone number of the pastor or contact person is the home address and number (unless it has been changed to the meetinghouse or office by request). Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Regional Directory of Congregations" section of this volume. An example of a complete congregational listing is as follows:

name of congregation	cong number	year founded	cong code	dist conf. cross ref no.	city, state/province	region	primary conf affiliation	cong. members
Conrad Grebel	(01234)	(1897)	(0)	(17)	Lombard, IL	(IV)	(1)	76

Note: The Bible Mennonite Fellowship is a loosely organized fellowship of churches and ministers from congregations not affiliated with other conferences. The fellowship is related through a common statement of faith, discipline, and constitution. It sponsors a mission work in the Guaymas Valley of Northwest Mexico. The fellowship annual meeting is held the weekend following Thanksgiving.

Church Communities

Church communities is a broad designation for the house church and intentional communities within the Anabaptist-Mennonite movement. Communities listed relate in a variety of ways to the Mennonite Church, as well as other churches and movements. Most communities follow a multiple-shared pattern of leadership. The asterisk (*) inserted before the name of the community indicates that the church information about the community is not current.

Directory of Overseas Mennonite Churches

(Related to the Mennonite Church)

This directory lists those overseas Mennonite churches which emerged out of the mission work conducted by the Mennonite Board of Missions, as well as district and conference mission boards and commissions. These overseas churches, though independent, maintain continuing faternal ties to the Mennonite Church in North America.

Church bodies are listed alphabetically by name of country. Within each church the congregations are listed alphabetically by name of congregation. (A few are listed alphabetically by states, districts, or areas, then by name.) Each congregational listing includes the name of the pastor or leader. In most cases only one name is included. Others active in the leadership of the congregation are included in the "Ministerial Directory." A complete congregational listing would include the following: (See beginning of "Conference and District Directory of Congregations" for explanation of office of pastor/leader. Note that the geographical location of the meetinghouse is not a mailing address. Send all correspondence in the name of the pastor or leader whose address is found in the "Ministerial Directory" of this volume.)

Directory of Mennonite Church Organizations

The churchwide mission of the Mennonite Church is carried out through the boards listed below. These are supported by contributions from the membership, with exception that the program of the Mennonite Mutual Aid Board is supported by enrollment in their services and the program of the Mennonite Publication Board is supported by purchases of books, curriculum materials, and periodials.

The 1983 combined budget of the churchwide agencies is $9,164,934. The average per member contribution needed by each of the agencies is as follows: Mennonite Board of Congregation Ministries, $7.15; Mennonite Board of Education, $2.00; Mennonite Board of Missions, $74.50; seminaries, $10.00, colleges, $23.50, Mennonite Church General Board, $4.00; minority education, $4.50. This brings the total per member average giving goal to $125.65.

Inter-Mennonite agencies approved for churchwide support include Mennonite Central Committee, up to $12.20 per member (to be adjusted by each congregation in proportion to the amounts contributed and sent directly by individuals to MCC) and Mennonite World Conference, $.25 per member.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date founded: 1905
Purpose and function: The primary role of the Mennonite Board of Education is to consider Mennonite Church educational objectives and to provide for the best use of personnel and financial resources in meeting these objectives. It is responsible to the church for the operation of Hesston and Goshen colleges and Goshen Biblical Seminary. In relation to these schools, the Mennonite Board of Education:

—appoints the presidents and Overseer Board members;
—establishes broad basic policies;
—reviews and approves institutional goals and objectives, long-range program and budget planning, new academic programs;
—makes specific policy decisions as needed, especially on relationships among Mennonite educational institutions;
—holds title to capital assets of these schools;
—works with Mennonite Church General Board in communicating financial needs of the schools to the church.

The Mennonite Board of Education entered into a three-year covenant relationship with Eastern Mennonite College and Seminary effective July 1, 1979. This was extended by action of the Eastern Mennonite College Board of Trustees and the Mennonite Board of Education for up to two years pending development of a more fully-defined relationship. The Board of Education has the following covenant functions in its relationship with Eastern Mennonite College and Seminary:

—approving long-range planning for programs, facilities, and budget projections, as developed by EMC's planning process;
—authorizing all programs of study as developed by EMC's planning process;
—establishing broad basic policies and making specific policy decisions in such areas as promotion, interpretation, student solicitation, fund-raising, askings, and capital development;
—consultation with respect to and approval of appointment of president.

The nomination and appointment of Eastern Mennonite College trustees and holding of title to corporate assets are not changed by the covenant agreement.

The Mennonite Board of Education works in a coordinating and consulting relationship with the 10 high schools of the Mennonite Secondary Education Council and with the 18 schools of the Mennonite Elementary Education Council.

The Board meets quarterly, with the annual meeting in December.
Fiscal year: July 1—June 30
1983 Special Days: Church School Day, February 27; Back to School Day, August 28
1982-83 Budget: $207,000. Additional funds in the amount of $67,000 are handled for the High-Aim program and $205,000 for college and seminary minority education
Staff: Full-time equivalent professional staff of 3.5

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date of organization: 1920

Purpose and function: MCC is the cooperative relief and service agency of 17 North American Mennonite and Brethren in Christ churches and conferences. Central for Mennonites is Christ's call for Christians to reflect the compassion of Jesus, teach the good news to the poor, proclaim liberty for the captives and recovery of sight for the blind, and set at liberty those who are oppressed. Community development, peacemaking, and material aid are carried on "in the name of Christ" in response to Christ's command to teach all nations the way of discipleship, love and peace.

Publications: MCC Contact (formerly Women's Activity Letter), Intercom, Peace Section Newsletter, Washington Memo, Post Service, Jottings, Women's Task Force Report.

Workers: approximately 944

Annual budget: $19,000,000

Fiscal year: December 1—November 30

Annual meeting date: January 27-29, 1983

Notes

[1]Full-time students, actual count.

[2]As reported by pastors, corrected for non-reporting congregations "Totals" obtained by the correction method, not by adding. May include some part-time in addition to full-time students.

[3]Contains congregations with dual membership in two Mennonite Church conferences. First-column figures include only those congregations not holding major membership in other conferences. Students from these congregations may be counted in one or the other of the conferences.

Notes

1 All data on this table are for youth and students from North American Mennonite Church congregations. students from other Mennonite groups (including overseas conferences) and non-Mennonite students are not included in these numbers. The 'Estimated College-Age Population' column includes only youth from major Mennonite Church groups (see list of conferences on Table XVII).

2 Numbers for Mennonite colleges and seminaries are for full-time students only, numbers for other colleges and universities may include some part-time students.

Notes

In addition to the Mennonite Church students of the Table XVIII, the data in this table includes all other students. The first column for each school lists full-time students, and in the second column part-time students are added.

Some of the schools, especially the seminaries, have a significant ministry to students not taking course work for credit. These audit and extension students are not included in the numbers reported here.

Mennonite Church Ministerial Directory

This directory lists all ordained persons who are members of the Mennonite Church in North America and the Overseas Mennonite Churches related to it. (Note: Ordained members of the Beachy Amish Church, the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church, and the Fellowship Churches are found in separate directories in the section "Other Mennonite Conferences.") The information provided for each person is as follows: name; address; telephone; office and function; date of birth; date of ordination as deacon, minister, and bishop; congregational name and number (if person carries function No. 1); conference affiliation; and the region in which the person lives. See example below. Where information is not available or not applicable (for example, the category of region for Overseas Mennonite Churches), it is omitted. Codes used in this listing are noted below.

Every effort has been made to secure complete and accurate information for each name. However, the situation of a person may change or the information was not available at the time when it was gathered. If there are errors and/or there is information missing, please send the correct and/or full information to: Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, Mennonite Publishing House, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683. Your help will make the Mennonite Yearbook a more useful and reliable tool for each member of the church in North America and around the world.

Tricentennial Readings

Kingdom, Cross, and Community, edited by J. R. Burkholder and Calvin Redekop. The most recent attempt to test the winds and discern the current Mennonite vision in those areas where disciple meets disciple, and church meets world. A companion volume to the distinguished classic, The Recovery of the Anabaptist Vision, edited by Guy F. Hershberger (Herald Press, 1957, $7.95; $9.55 in Canada). Both are consciously based upon a common faith and experience. Herald Press, 1976, $14.95 ($17.95 in Canada).

An Introduction to Mennonite History, edited by Cornelius J. Dyck. Extensive revisions by Dyck update this classic volume. Shows that worldwide Mennonitism has come into its own. Herald Press, 1981, paper, $11.95 ($14.35 in Canada).

A People on the Way, by Jan Gleysteen. A combination pictorial-textual interpretation of the whole sweep of Mennonite history. Beginning with pre-Reformation Christian renewal, it identifies, in colorful word and vivid graphics, the movement of the Mennonite story down to the present era. Herald Press. Release date and price not set.

Land, Piety, and Peoplehood: The Establishment of Mennonite Communities in America, 1683-1790, by Richard MacMaster. Volume I of the four-volume series, The Mennonite Experience in America, that is to include the social history of North American Mennonites up to recent times. Herald Press, August 1983, paper. $12.00 ($14.40 in Canada).

Mennonite Women: A Story of God's Faithfulness, by Elaine Sommers Rich. Glimpses into the lives of many women within the Mennonite Church, especially during the last century, depicting their contributions to humanity in general and to the Mennonite Church in particular. Herald Press, 1983, paper, $9.95 ($11.95 in Canada).

Black and Mennonite, by Hubert L. Brown. Insights into the nature of our faith and life, within a close, believing community of disciples. Affirms a common Mennonite faith and its expression in life and witness. Herald Press, 1976, paper, $3.95 ($4.95 in Canada).

Mennonites in Canada, by Frank H. Epp. Volume 1 covers 1786-1920; and Volume 2 covers 1920-1940. The first comprehensive attempt to interpret the total Canadian Mennonite scene from Canadian perspectives. Vol. 1, Herald Press, 1982 $12.95. (In Canada, Macmillan 1974 $16.50). Vol. 2, Herald Press 1982 $21.95. (In Canada, Macmillan, 1982 $25.95).

Mennonites in Illinois, by Willard H. Smith. A regional social history, but of general significance. Treats the history of ideas, such as shifting Mennonite piety, church/state and church/world issues. Herald Press, 1983, $24.95 ($29.95 in Canada).

Maintaining the Right Fellowship, by John L. Ruth. Volume 26 of the series, Studies in Anabaptist and Mennonite History. A tricentennial interpretation of the oldest Mennonite conference in North America. Herald Press. Release date and price not set.

Titles selected by Leonard Gross, executive secretary of the Mennonite Historical Committee. All selections available through Provident and other religious bookstores. Prices subject to change without notice.
